CASTING CALL

Last year's production of Fractured Fairytales was such a highlight for our community that we decided to put on another production this summer; this time it will be a murder mystery! We will need actors and a production crew to help backstage to make this show successful!

Please note that involvement in this program requires a certain level of commitment to the production and participants will need to spend some time outside of rehearsals to learn about the plot, characters, and lines. After auditions, TRS staff and the director will work to find the best role for everyone who auditions - all are welcome!
